INTERNAL STYLE

A glazing bead is the part that secures your glass, but it also determines the finished internal aesthetic, which is why R7 is unique. You can choose from three designs, square, decorative or staff; a 28mm decorative, staff or square bead for double glazing, and a 44mm decorative or square bead for triple glazing.

TECHNIQUES

A mitre weld will fuse the joints together diagonally for a contemporary appearance, or choose the Graf weld for a seamless diagonal weld. The Timberweld® process welds the profiles with a mechanical look to both sides, or MechWeld/ External Timber Look (ETL) gives a diagonal weld to the internal, with a mechanical look to the external. Of course, there's also the traditional mechanical joint which is not welded, but made in a traditional mechanical jointed method, often used in timber joinery.

Residence 7 windows can be further personalised to your individual requirements with different types of glass. Stained glass can add a touch of traditional charm to your windows, as can leaded. You can bespoke the glass with geometric patterns or add vibrant colours to create beautiful and classic designs. Speak to your installer to see what options are available to you.

STAINED GLASS

Old timber windows often had a raised moulding that ran horizontally. Its function was to shed dripping water and to increase the strength of the mullion, that's why we recreated this feature to ensure it provided time-served traditional performance and aesthetics. There is the option to add Georgian bar to all R7 windows, completing the true timber alternative look.

GARDEN ROOMS CONSERVATORIES & ORANGERIES

Generally-speaking, conservatories and orangeries all constitute a "garden room", but more specifically, we define a garden room as emphasising the close relationship between house and garden. Use colours that enhance plus a style that opens access to the garden or courtyard.

A conservatory can create a unique addition to any home and can be a treasured and valuable room, providing much needed additional space. Conservatories are frequently created in the most unlikely of places and a useful room can be built in a previously unused part of a courtyard or garden.

Orangeries were once a symbol of prestige, built on to the residences of the very wealthy in a bid to protect their fruit trees during the colder months. Though their sense of luxury remains, the function of such spaces has changed to provide stunning additional living space, for use all year round.
